DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election of species A in the reply filed on 10/18/05 is acknowledged.

Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

Species J is now considered to be part of Species A.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Line 1, the "surface of the strut" lacks antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2, 4, 6, 7, 9, 10, 11, 13-16, 18, 19, and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Otto.

Otto discloses an ice detector having a substantially cylindrical shaped probe 10 with an ice accreting edge, strut 14 with notch 24 formed in an upwind direction, and mounting flange 15. The notch causes the airflow to increase in turbulence prior to reaching the probe. Please note that the notch is formed by a v-shaped cavity (see figures 5, 6). The surface of the strut is curved that accelerates the airflow before it reaches the probe (see figure 2). Re claims 13-14, the probe is magnetostrictive probe which uses vibrations to detect ice.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3, 5, 8, 12, 17, and 20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Richard, Marxer et al, Lindsey et al, Fraser, and Werner disclose ice probes.
